PREFACE

THE first issue of The Methodist Who's Who was surrounded by special difficulties ; but the sale of the book showed how much it was appreciated in all parts of the country. The Second Edition was much enlarged, and had even greater success. To the present issue large additions have been made which bring the Methodism of our Colonies and the United States into intimate touch with the Methodism of our own country and the Mission field. Warm congratulations and expressions of interest have been received from all parts of the globe. The English lists of ministers and laymen have also been much extended.

The brief biographies contain details as to each man's personal history, his public work, his church life, his writings, studies, recreations, and other points of interest. Such pages will make ministers and people better known to each other, and will bind together the various branches of the Methodist family. The book makes a wider appeal to members of other Churches and to all who wish to know something about Methodist men of the time. They will find here much information which can be gained nowhere else.

One American reviewer carefully examined 1,600 entries and found that the most popular recreations were : 'Cycling, 253 ; golf, 192 ; walking, 175 ; gardening, 98 ; cricket, 80 ; photography, 75 ; fishing, 68 ; music, 66 ; tennis, 66 ; reading, 65 ; travel, 50 ; motor-ing, 37 ; chess, 34 ; hunting, 29 ; swimming, 21 ; horseback-riding, 9 ; driving, 9. It seems that the crowning fondness is for cycling—a sport, by the way, which is little followed in America. We believe that in America the favourite recreations are hunting, fishing, and gardening. Some very unusual recreations are mentioned. Three subjects confess their partiality for Freemasonry ; three, hard work ; four, collecting portraits and autographs ; five, collecting Wesleyana ; one, naval history ; one, numismatics ; one, psychic research ; one, inventing ; one, collecting stamps ; two, works of God ; four, public work ; one, bee-keeping. The strangest recreation recorded is that of reading Annual Conference Minutes.'

The utmost pains have been taken to secure accuracy ; but we cannot hope to have escaped all mistakes. Any corrections sent to 25-35 City Road, London, E.C., will be valued. It is hoped that The Methodist Who's Who will become a household friend, and establish its claim to a long life of influence and prosperity.
